Installation Guide

ChemDraw Professional Version 16

Designed for Scheikunde/Chemistry students from the University of Amsterdam and Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam

Preface

This installation guide is created especially for Bachelor Scheikunde and Master Chemistry students of the Universiteit van Amsterdam (UvA) and Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam (VU). It explains how the chemical drawing software 'ChemDraw Professional version 6' can be downloaded and installed onto a personal Windows or Apple computer. This is all based on the UvA's University subscription for students and can therefore only be used by its own students.

ChemDraw Professional is a professional chemical drawing application that is mainly used to draw chemical components, reaction equations, reaction mechanisms and much more. During your Bachelor's programme, Master's programme and further academic career, you will use this application for your reports, presentations, thesis and all other purposes that involve the graphic display of molecules and reactions.

The purpose of this guide is the installation of the application only. To discover the numerous possibilities of the ChemDraw Professional application you can visit the User Manual on the ChemDraw website:

<http://www.cambridgesoft.com/support/ProductHomePage.aspx?KBCatID=2>

Especially, for first-year students of the Bachelor Scheikunde there is a basic instruction video explaining the basic functions of ChemDraw (in Dutch). The video can be found here:

Good luck!

An Annual Site Subscription is a way for organizations to provide PerkinElmer Informatics software to everyone at their organization for a fraction of the price of purchasing individual copies. Moreover, everyone associated with the organization can be eligible to use the software under the terms of the subscription.

With the release of version 17, PerkinElmer is transitioning to a new and improved software delivery platform with a more intuitive interface to help you manage your site license software. This will enable you to access and download your software, manage your account and users, access your order history quickly, and view your upgrade history. Your account is tailored to your institution. Both Windows and Mac users will operate through this new system.

Some of the Site Subscriptions come with annual subscriptions to one or both of our Cloud based applications: ChemDraw Cloud (ChemDraw Professional and ChemOffice Professional) and PerkinElmer Signals Notebook Individual Edition (ChemOffice Professional). These cloud based products will still be administered through our old activation/registration system, i.e. via the CambridgeSoft.com domain. These cloud applications were introduced with version 16 and will be administered as before
